ALL SILENCE IS NOT CREATED EQUAL

AMTAC – BRINGING THE TRADITION, CULTURE, STRENGTH, AND TRIBAL PRIDE OF THE MIGHTY POLYNESIAN WARRIOR TO OUR MODERN-DAY FIGHTERS.

For centuries, the mystery of the Polynesian culture has loomed large in Western imaginations. Displays of the mighty Haka, fierce weaponry and sacred tattooing have all created awe and respect. The rich culture, customs and values reflect a fierce tradition of storytelling, dance, family, respect, and honor. Traditions being passed down and celebrated through generations show a profound reverence for the past.

Polynesian warriors were greatly feared in battle for their endurance, fierceness, and strategy. They had a strict fighting code and a lifelong tradition of war. They were trained in the arts of warfare from an early age, in the usage of unique weapons, fighting techniques and strategies.

The Polynesian people believed that combat was sacred to their ancestors and they fought to acquire mana - spiritual power and prestige.

TODAY WE HONOR THESE WARRIORS AND THEIR TRADITIONS.
